Our company

Over 16 years ago, a highly experienced group of Detroit-Area architects, facilities managers and construction professionals recognized the need for a sensible and combined application of the services they could individually provide. This vision resulted in the formation of Interior Partnership Group, Inc. (IPG). The unique blend of skills and talents held by these professionals resulted in delivery of a practical “hands-on” approach and cost-sensitive solution for every project undertaken since IPG’s inception.

What we do; how we can help

IPG offers extensive knowledge and experience as a full-service resource for every aspect of project design, construction, product installation and management. Our services are available for complete or selective portions of projects, always with special attention paid to safety and the environmental impact of our work. We provide:

Design services

Interior Partnership Group offers “single source” design, engineering, architectural, graphic and consulting services. Our team is licensed, insured and certified by appropriate professional organizations.

Construction services

IPG’s professionals provide a comprehensive range of contracting and construction services. We have special expertise in the renovation of office, retail and industrial buildings, often while occupied by an operating business. Our menu of construction services is further enhanced with the capability to design and build commercial properties from the ground up.

Modular space services

To create economic but effective office, industrial or storage space, Interior Partnership Group offers modular buildings, architectural wall systems and pre-fabricated mezzanine structures. These structures often allow our customers to significantly expand workspace in a modular fashion without relocating.

Painting services

IPG's painting division provides a complete range of commercial and industrial painting and finishing services for existing and new construction. Our expert crews also provide installation of wall coverings and graphics. Years of experience allow our staff to perform these services while working in occupied spaces and, when necessary, during off-hours to minimize disruption in any work environment.

Architectural/Operable wall systems

IPG further differentiates its range of construction solutions by providing movable walls, unitized glazing systems, demountable walls and operable/accordion doors. These products are user friendly, accommodate quick installation, and have the ability to be easily changed. Many environmental and sustainability issues are also addressed by these eco-friendly products, along with certain tax benefits. IPG can assist you in selecting the appropriate system for your project application, as well as offer ongoing maintenance and repair programs.

Project management consulting

Our customers have access to decades of combined construction and facility experience. Hands-on experience providing solutions, under countless project conditions, allows IPG to provide the highest level of project management and consulting services.

Our customers

Interior Partnership Group's capabilities have created opportunities to work with a wide assortment of customers addressing varied and complex design, construction and facilities management requirements. IPG provides tailored solutions for every customer's project needs, and has developed and delivered construction services for:

- Commercial and professional office interiors
- Schools and training facilities
- Office furniture manufacturers and dealers
- Automotive company offices and manufacturing facilities
- Banks and financial institutions
- Advertising agencies
- Hospitals and medical facilities
- Retail businesses
- Research and development test facilities
- Religious institutions

The Interior Partnership Group Approach

Customers expect to know how a project will look, how much it will cost and when it will be completed.

Interior Partnership Group is proudly committed to match customer expectations by providing graphic representations, full project descriptions and details, firm budgets and accurate schedules.

Every project is important and benefits from our extensive experience.

All projects are valued and receive full attention - no matter how large or small. IPG's unique combination of abilities allows us to undertake a broad range of design and construction challenges. We use our experience to anticipate and avoid issues, address environmental and safety concerns and maintain project focus.

Integrity and follow-through are paramount.

IPG customers rely on us to initiate and carry through their design, whether created entirely by IPG or through outside architectural/design professionals. We navigate construction and management needs in a professional, accomplished manner. It is the pride we take in our work and our underlying integrity which allows IPG to build customer relationships with mutual respect and superior results.

In short, we honor our customers' objectives and deliver what we promise.
